When Panorama Gardens hosted their annual end-of-the-season sale on Saturday, they decided to have some fun and do some good for the community. Dubbed a Mask-A-Raid sale, customers who wore a COVID-19 mask and contributed either food or money to the food pantry, were given a special discount allowing them to purchase three items for the price of one. Just two hours into the sale, the large wheelbarrow was almost overflowing with food donations. A substantial amount of money was also contributed.

Having some fun with the hard work of the sale were three generations of the Olson family. Shown, from the left, are Gavin Pote; his mother, Crystal Pote, and her mother, Ilene Olson. Of course, Dave Olson and Quinton Pote also assisted but weren't in the area when the photo was taken.
